

research interests

fermionic systems with random interactions: frustration, transport, and competing phases hierarchical structure growth as critical phenomena in different host models aspects of Parisi replica symmetry breaking at low temperatures quantum phase transitions and metal insulator transitions superconducting glasses and anomalous metallic phases renormalization and symmetries of stochastic differential equations interdisciplinary applications of many body theory in sociodynamics, economy, psychology