

Where is my quarter?

Würzburg's quarters enfold the historic city center like a wreath. Those who want to live next to their college of study, should move right into the respective quarter. Each one of them has its very unique character!

Historic city center – Old and New University, the main FHWS (University of Applied Sciences Würzburg-Schweinfurt) building and the University of Music can be reached on foot. Because of its shape, the pentagonal medieval city center is named bishop's hat and branches out in a maze of winding alleys.

Grombühl – Students of many faculties just love the doctors' quarters at the university hospital. Situated behind the train station, the streets flanked with neo-renaissance style buildings create a world of their own.

Zellerau – The extensive former working-class neighborhood with the new green center has become the flatshare address. Downtown can be easily reached on foot.

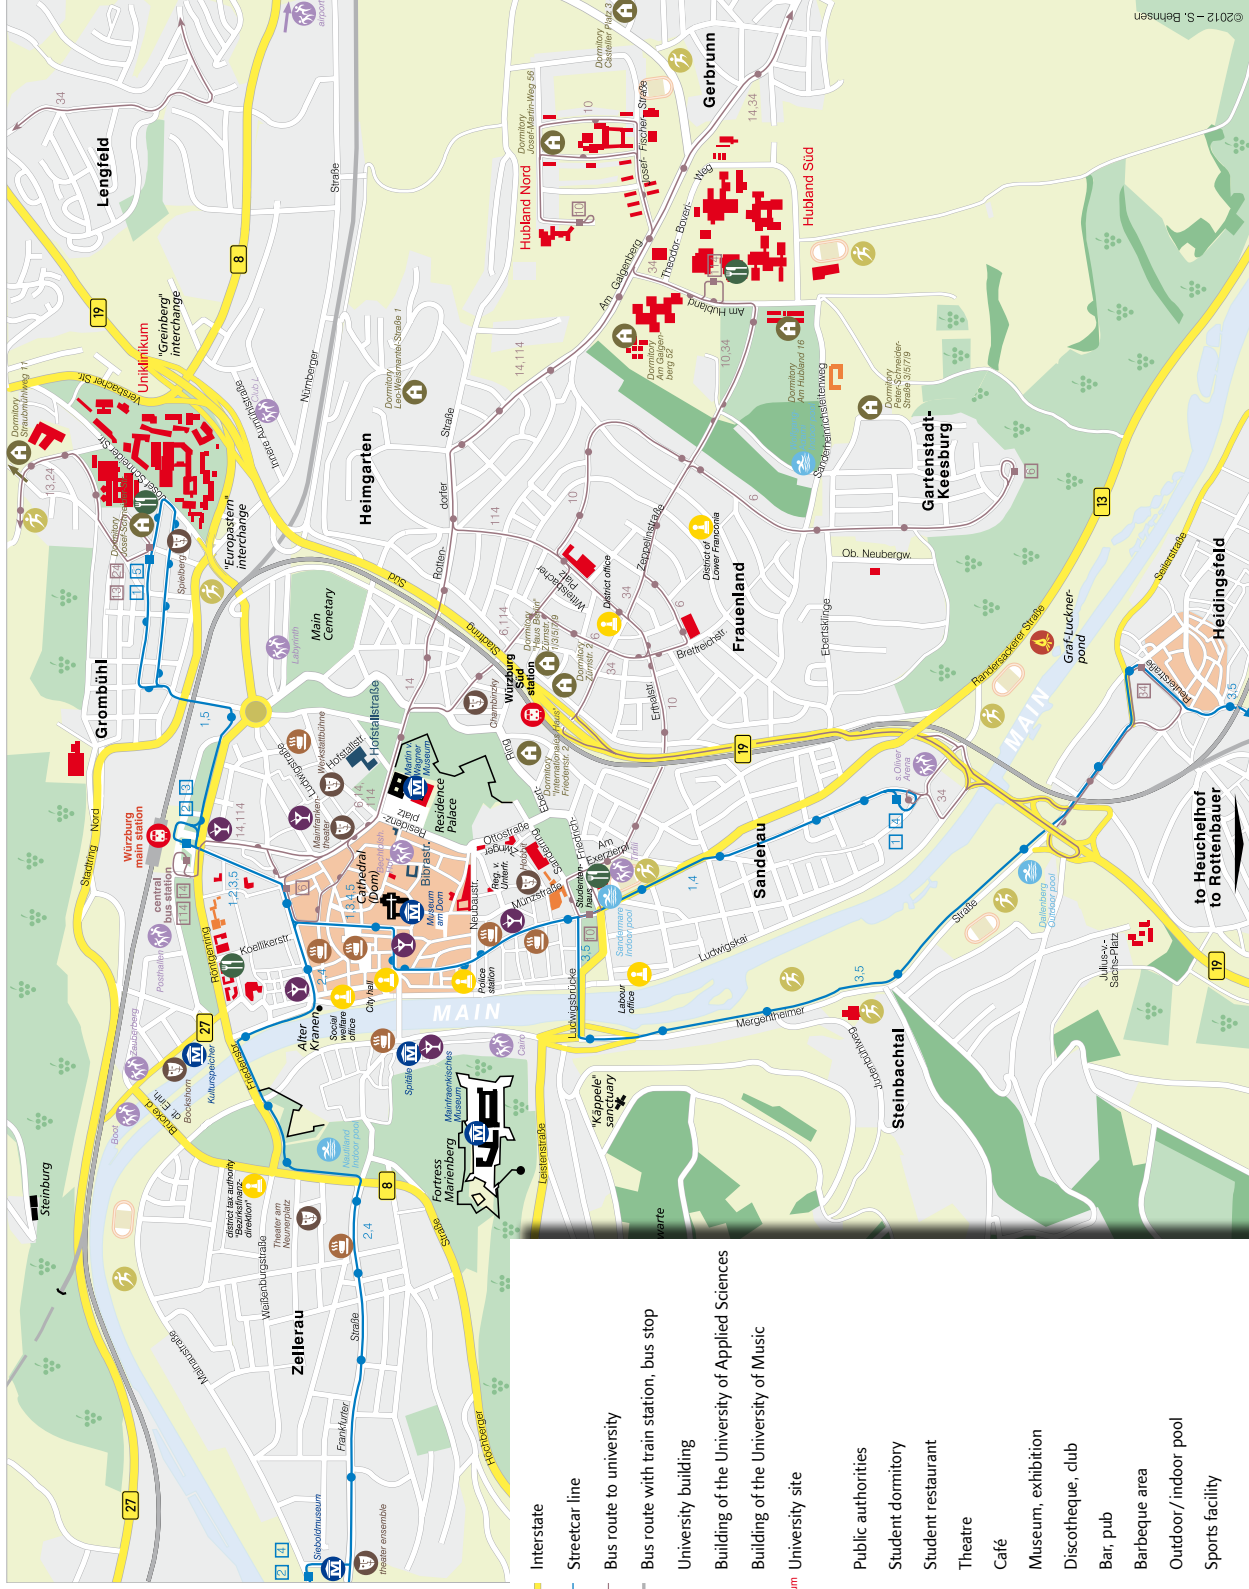

Heuchelhof – The former commuter town is experiencing a thrilling social development. The multicultural quarter has excellent streetcar connections to the city center

Sanderau – The old garden city right at the river Main is just a stone's throw away from the New University, the main FHWS building and the university canteen.

Frauenland – Large apartment buildings mingle with single-family homes. In some places, these finer homes border the Hubland campus.

Gerbrunn – The independent municipality behind the North Campus still has some of that typical village character.

Heimgarten – The undiscovered urban district! The grand opening of the university's North Campus will soon make this colorful and diverse settlement the center of student life.
